An intimate space to illuminate best practice for Team Coaching globally

Our world has been turned upside down, change is ubiquitous and the concept of VUCA (volatile, uncertain, chaotic, ambiguous) is now on steroids.

Organisations need to step up and deal with the challenge of how to survive, thrive and stay competitive, and how to collaborate as they look to explore new ways of working, do micro innovations and re-humanise the workforce.

As Team Coaches, we need to work differently with all kinds of teams and deal with a myriad of challenges and wicked problems.

So how do we, as Team Coaches, help our clients navigate the practical and psychological issues that arise as they manage these multiple complexities?

How do we take care of our own needs and continue to provide the depth and quality of coaching so needed in these times?

What can I expect?

- ✨ A depth of relationship with experienced coaches from around the globe who care about team coaching and the systems we belong to, including this one
- ✨ Exploring who you are in this system and therefore who you are as a Team Coach, appreciating and acknowledging difference
- ✨ A safe and restorative space to pause, connect and nurture yourself in the messiness and complexity of working with teams, and to stretch your own team coaching practice
- ✨ A safe place where we will encourage the highest standards for ourselves and others so we can learn

ALIGN ✨ REVEAL ✨ TRANSFORM

WHO IS THIS FOR?

The group is for qualified, practising team coaches looking to join a Master Supervision Group setting. We'd like you to be:

- ✨ Seeking to develop and deepen your learning as a Team Coach
- ✨ Experienced in working with Teams and Groups with a thorough understanding of group dynamics, the principles of Team Coaching and have a coaching accreditation with one of the major governing bodies; the ICF, ACC or EMCC
- ✨ Willing to engage in experiential inquiry and practice to explore the impact of groups on yourself and others
- ✨ Willing to engage in pre-work and reading to extend your knowledge and skills

Participants who are willing and prepared to share their challenges, vulnerabilities and client systems to this space. (We will of course adhere to sanctity of anonymity and confidentiality at all times).

YOUR INVESTMENT

The program is a profound journey of self exploration, peer support, partnership and collective learning that will enable you to find simple transferable solutions to your practice and way of being.

The promise is greater joy, ease, flexibility, emergence and results for you as a team coach, where you emerge truly aligned with the value of team coaching.

Our Story

When Covid-19 struck we were each grappling with how to attend to our businesses. We joined a virtual online team coaching program and happily found each other. We found a high degree of synergy between us and a mutual desire to support others to be with the seismic change we are all experiencing. Over the last few months we formed our own team to generate a compelling online Master Group Supervision program for team Coaches. The result is a program we are now calling "The ART of Team Coaching".

The ART of Team Coaching is a program with a difference. We will employ edgy ideas, critical thinking, and support. We will bring our own practices for exploration and analysis. We will create an intimate and safe space for the ART of Team Coaching.

Here's what we mean by ART:

A

We begin with aligning around the distinctions that describe Team Coaching. It illuminates the terrain we will be working and how we want to be together. It incorporates our individual needs for a successful program.

R

As we progress through the group conversations we will reveal your relationship to team coaching, your practice, the coach you are and any limiting beliefs getting in your way. This program will explode the myth and misconceptions commonly held about coaching and team coaching. This program will reveal how some of our unconscious thoughts/habits/patterns/defences diminish our authority in a room and by dint diminish the performance our teams can achieve.

T

You will be supported to transform and figure out new authentic choices for you, your practice and how you engage clients. You will be guided to translate these changes into highly targeted practical changes that will make immediate sense and translate value for you and your clients.
